SUSTAINABILITY RESEARCH AND INNOVATION 2019/2020

Future Earth, which supports the largest global community of systems-focused sustainability researchers and innovators, and the Belmont Forum, the world's largest consortium of transdisciplinary global change and sustainability research funders, are joining forces to establish an annual marquis congress in which the world's foremost research and innovation communities come together to share successes, exchange views, and work across disciplines and sectors to support a global transformation to sustainability.
